

Key Learning

- To use an introduction to introduce the topic.
- To have detailed information about the topic.
- To use technical language for the topic.
- To use diagrams or illustrations with captions.
- To use organisational devices to structure the text.
- To use a summary paragraph to end the text.

What should I already know?

Coordinating and subordinating conjunctions to add extra information

Brackets to add extra detail about a noun

Subordinating conjunctions can be used to start a sentence

Technical vocabulary makes an explanation more precise

Key Vocabulary

recognise	following	definite
sufficient	thorough	necessary
especially	occur	relevant

Explanation sentence starters

On the other hand,....

To summarise,...

Similarly,...

Primarily,...

In addition to this,...

Consequently,...

Organisation for your writing

Feature	Tick
You have a detailed introduction and conclusion which add cohesion to the piece.
Your paragraphs are organised around a topic.
You have used headings and subheadings.
You include detailed paragraphs around the process and how or why it happens, which are accurate.
You have used technical vocabulary	